Historical Note: PAUL CARUS

Paul Carus, the first editor of THE MONIST, was born in Ilsenberg am Harz on July 18, 1852, and died in LaSalle, Illinois, on February 11, 1919. After receiving his Ph.D. degree in philosophy and classical philology from Tübingen University in 1876, he taught briefly at the State Military Academy at Dresden. In search of freedom for expression of his independent views, he migrated first to England and then to the United States. In 1887 he accepted the invitation of Edward C. Hegeler (who later became his father-in-law) to edit the Open Court Magazine, a monthly journal devoted primarily to comparative religion. In 1888 the Monist was established as a quarterly journal of the philosophy of science, and Paul Carus served as editor of both journals and as editor of the Open Court Publishing Company until his death in 1919.
